Dear Friends of Penland,

Welcome to Penland's 38th Annual Benefit Auction, our largest gathering and our most important fundraiser of the year. This year brings the first auction to take place entirely on campus since 2019, and we are looking forward to the festivities

If you are seeing this catalog before you make your way to Penland, I hope you w leaf through it to get a feel for the artistry that will greet you when you visit the displays of auction work on Friday evening and Saturday morning. This school is incredibly fortunate to enjoy the support of so many skilled and passionate make and it is the products of their hands and minds that are the central focus of this event.

During the weekend we will honor two of Penland's closest friends. At the Director's Luncheon on Friday, Lucy Morgan Leaders and other guests will salute the remarkable Julia Woodman, whose career as a metalsmith has been entwined with Penland School. On Friday afternoon, we will all gather to pay tribute to sculptor, blacksmith, teacher, and mentor Elizabeth Brim who is our 2023 Outstanding Artist Educator.

Elizabeth is also being lavishly honored by nineteen of her colleagues who made steel pieces to adorn the tables under the tent. In addition to making a spectacular collection inspired by Elizabeth's work and friendship, they all wrote short statements about her. Please take some time to read these messages, which begin on page 16.

Be sure to check in with our core fellows, who will have a pop-up show in the Penland Coffee House. Don't miss our resident artists, who will host a Saturday morning open house with hot drinks and light fare. Drinks will be served in colorful souvenir mugs made by Cat Coulter Lloyd and her sister Kelly Coulter Knapp. And please note that a new feature of the auction this year will be artist demonstrations in the clay, glass, and iron studios on Friday afternoon.

If you are unable to join us and are bidding from a distance this year, don't hesitate to check in with our auction staff if you have questions or need assistance.

We can't wait to see you at Penland for a wonderful weekend of friendship, conversation, and discovery as we celebrate what our founder Lucy Morgan once referred to as, "creating the good and the beautiful."

Dan Estabrook

Dumb Skulls Forever

Black glass ambrotype

14 x 17 inches

Featured Artist: Dan Estabrook

For over thirty years, Dan Estabrook has been making contemporary art using a variety of 19th-century photographic techniques, including calotype negatives, salt prints, gum bichromate prints, ambrotypes, and tintypes. His interest in photography has been complemented by forays into sculpture, painting, and drawing.

Dan has exhibited widely and has received several awards, including an NEA Artist's Fellowship. He is the subject of a documentary film by Anthropy Arts, and he teaches alternative photographic processes as a Visiting Assistant Professor at Pratt Institute in New York. He lives and works in Brooklyn.

Dan first came to Penland as a photo studio assistant in 1992 and since then has taught over a dozen times, including several eightweek Concentration workshops. His Penland workshops are lively, messy, and filled with joy and conversation. He has also been part of Penland as a visiting artist, a curator, a symposium organizer, and a member of the design committee for the school's beautiful photo studio. Although he describes himself as a lifelong city boy, he says, "the mountain will always be my other home."

To see a short video about Dan and his work, visit penland.org/auction.

Featured Artist: Tanya Crane

Tanya Crane is a Southern California native who, after years of exploration, has found a home and community in Providence, Rhode Island where she practices her research and makes her jewelry and sculpture. Tanya is also a Professor of the Practice in Metals at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts at Tufts University in Massachusetts. She says that through her teaching she uses her interdisciplinary focus in jewelry, craft, sculpture, and performance to influence the next generation of artists, craftspeople, and thinkers.

Tanya's jewelry and sculpture are framed within a dual existence of prejudice and privilege, as she has lived among family in both the rural white suburbs of Los Angeles and the predominantly black suburbs of South Central.

Her work embodies many layers of human existence, including history, race, class, and culture.

Tanya first attended Penland as a studio assistant for an enamel workshop taught by Arthur Hash. Years later she came back to teach her own enamel workshop. Most recently Penland invited her to be an artist mentor for the HBCU (historic black colleges and universities) tour of Penland. "These diverse experiences have cemented Penland as a foundational component to my development as a jeweler and maker," she says.

To see a short video about Tanya and her work, visit penland.org/auction.

Julia working with a student in the metals studio in 2010.

Lucy Morgan Award: Julia Woodman

Julia Woodman is a smith: a person skilled in making things. In her case, things made of silver and steel. She is also one of Penland's best friends.

Julia's remarkable career in craft began at a time of life when many folks are starting to slow down. She completed an MFA in metals at Georgia State University when she was 62, and then, in 1998 (the year she started drawing Social Security) she was awarded a Fulbright Fellowship to study in Finland where she became the first American to receive a Master Silversmith diploma.

Since then she has made commissioned pieces, won awards, and taught workshops. Her work is in the collections of the Victoria and Albert Museum (London), the Dallas Museum of Art, and the High Museum of Art (Atlanta).

A major piece commissioned for the 2014 Penland auction became part of the collection of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Her connection to Penland began in 1986 when she started taking metals workshops every year to supplement her university studies. After her MFA was complete, she switched from metals workshops to iron workshops, and, she says, "I became known as the Old Lady of the Iron Studio." She continued taking classes in the iron studio well into her 80s. In the last few years she's been exploring lighter materials such as books and paper. Her workshop total now stands at 28.

She started volunteering for the auction in 1997 and has continued to do so up to the present. For many of those years she was accompanied by her lovely husband, Richard Woodman, who passed away in 2012. Julia has taught silversmithing at Penland six times, most recently in 2022. She has supported the school through contributions and by regularly donating her work to the auction. And Penland has a scholarship named in her honor that was endowed by Julia Wilson and other friends.

When asked why she is so devoted to the school, she immediately said, "Because it's so incredible to go there. At Penland I learned how to not be afraid of making a mistake. And that was my goal as a teacher: to teach students to stop being afraid of mistakes. Because when you can do that, then you can really make art."

At the Director's Luncheon on Friday, we will present Julia with the first Lucy Morgan Award in honor of her extraordinary relationship with the school.

Julia with her friend and fellow blacksmith Kent Leslie.

Director's Luncheon

Lucy Morgan Leaders and special guests are invited to kick off the auction weekend by attending the Director's Luncheon under the tent on Friday at noon.

Lucy Morgan Leaders contribute $1,500 or more per year to the Penland annual fund. Members of this important giving group are invited to participate in special events, and they receive a 10 percent discount at the Penland Gallery and supply store as well as updates about activities and events.

To become a Lucy Morgan Leader, contact Penland's Development Office at 828.765.2359, ext. 1206 or contribute online: penland.org/support.

Fund-A-Need

Fund-A-Need invites direct support during the auction for important and timely needs on the Penland campus.

This year's Fund-A-Need will support HVAC upgrades in a number of Penland buildings. Summers at Penland are humid, and they are getting hotter. Mildew can make some of our housing unusable for some people. We are beginning to introduce climate control to our housing and a few studios with two goals: preservation of aging buildings and greater comfort for our students and instructors.

Our goal is to raise $100,000, which will fund upgrades for these nine buildings, which have been identified as having the highest priority needs:

Arbor House

Bamboo

Bascom

Bill's Place

Bonnie's

Dorm 54

Heaven's Above

Lear House

Lily Loom/ Metals Studio

Radcliffe

The Roost

During Saturday's live auction, we invite you to raise your paddle to support this project. Gifts may be made at levels of $10,000, $5,000, $2,500, $1,000, $500, and $250 with a goal of raising $100,000. You can also contribute by calling Joan Glynn at 828.765.2359, ext. 1206.

Thank you so much for supporting these important upgrades.

This piece, titled Scroll, exemplifies the grace and fluidity of Elizabeth's work in forged steel.

Outstanding Artist Educator: Elizabeth Brim

If anyone can be said to be one of "Penland's own" it would be blacksmith and sculptor Elizabeth Brim. Although she started out working in ceramics, a Penland jewelry workshop she took in the 1980s (with the school's long-time neighbor Marvin Jensen) sparked a lifelong interest in metals that quickly turned into a passion for working with hot steel.

She was Penland's iron studio coordinator from 1995–2000 and then settled permanently into a house and studio just a mile from the school. She has taught many Penland workshops over the past three decades. She has also taught at Peters Valley in New Jersey, Haystack in Maine, and other craft schools. She has demonstrated at many blacksmithing conferences, organized two symposiums at Penland, and been a role model and inspiration for countless aspiring blacksmiths.

She is known throughout the craft world for her life-sized, steel replicas of traditionally feminine objects such as hats, dresses, pillows, and flowers; for her expressive and fluid use of the material; for her innovative techniques for inflating steel forms with compressed air; and for always wearing pearls while working at the forge.

Her work has been exhibited, among other places, at the Mint Museum in Charlotte, North Carolina, the North Carolina Museum of Art, The Houston Center for Contemporary Craft, and the Metal Museum in Memphis, Tennessee, which named her as their 2009 Master Metalsmith. In 2015, she was a finalist for the Rare Craft Award, co-sponsored by the American Craft Council and The Balvenie. The presenter was the late Anthony Bourdain, who was so taken with Elizabeth that he came to her studio to shoot a segment for his Raw Craft web series. That episode has been viewed a half-million times.

Elizabeth has committed herself to forged steel as a sculptural medium, and she has enthusiastically promoted the craft through her generous teaching. She has also been a connecting force, always bringing people together. "Part of teaching, of being a part of our making community, is about what you make, but it's also about how you treat people," says her colleague and friend Vivian Beer. "Through her work, Elizabeth gives us a trailblazing example—especially for women in the field. But I think, perhaps in equal measure, her legacy will be the friendships she fosters and the connections she creates for us all."

We are pleased to honor Elizabeth as our Outstanding Artist Educator. Please join us for a tribute on Friday at 3:30 PM at Northlight.

Cynosures

cynosure (noun): a center of attraction; something that strongly draws attention by its brilliance, interest, etc.

Each year we commission artists to edition a piece to be a "center of attraction" on the tables under the tent. These pieces are sold during the weekend so they can adorn your table or mantle or special shelf. For this year's auction, a remarkable group of friends, colleagues, and students of Elizabeth Brim have created a spectacular group of pieces in steel.

Cynosures will be available for purchase under the tent beginning at noon on Saturday. To bid remotely you may contact Cindy Gibson, absentee bid coordinator, at 828.765.2359 x 1308 or email bidding@penland.org. Our team will do their best to secure the centerpiece, but we can't guarantee they will be the first one to that centerpiece when purchasing begins. If you win the piece, we will ship it after the event. Shipping cost will be added; allow 4–6 weeks. Most artist have made more than one piece. These images are representative, but variations are to be expected.

Cynosures are $395 each.

1 Vivian Beer

For Brim
Steel, patina, black candle
8 x 10 x 10 inches

When asked to celebrate Elizabeth Brim, I immediately thought of the pillow. She has taught metal inflation to countless students, and the combination of play and danger in this process is the perfect metaphor for Elizabeth's work.

There are flowers, but dangerous flowers. It's feminine fashion, but it's made of iron.

Some of teaching and of being part of our making community is about what you make, but it's also about how you treat people. Elizabeth gives us a trailblazing example through her work, but perhaps in equal measure her legacy will be the friendships she fosters and the connections she creates for us all.

2 Autumn Brown

Peony PillarForged and fabricated steel
17 x 7½ x 7 inches

I was introduced to Elizabeth's work while I was a student at the University of Georgia in 2003 and was instantly fascinated by her and captivated by the delicate fortitude that emanated from her work. Elizabeth and her work have had a tremendous impact on my confidence to proceed as a female metalsmith.

James D. W. Cooper Iron Orchids Iron, paint

24 x 9 × 9 × inches

I love plants and flowers, and the work of my friend Elizabeth has served as an inspiration for incorporating floral forms into some of my work. So it seems appropriate to celebrate her great contribution to artistic blacksmithing through the presentation of flowers. Elizabeth and I have been friends and colleagues for more years than I care to count. Her work and vibrant personality have inspired me frequently throughout my career.

4 Maegan E. Crowley

For a Friend

Forged and fabricated steel 14 x 6 x 6 inches

Elizabeth was one of my first blacksmithing teachers; she taught me how to forge-weld.

I still have my first bit of forge-welding, a piece of quarter-inch round steel. One end is my first attempt, which I burned and ruined. Elizabeth said, "That's alright, try it again." So the other end has the successful attempt at the same technique. I keep it on my workbench to remind me to try again. This flower is made with that same technique.

5 Andy Dohner

Colored Pencils
Forged and fabricated steel, paint 9 x 5 x 5 inches

Beginning in 2002, Elizabeth and I spent time together over eight years setting up forging exhibitions all over the country. She encouraged me to develop an eye and to forge with finesse. We became friends, we became peers, we became part of a family!!! This piece could function as a sculpture or a flower vase.

6 Seth Gould

The Blacksmith's Candle Holder Steel

141/2 x 31/2 x 31/2 inches

My first class at Penland was the 2011 Spring Concentration in iron with Elizabeth Brim, and I can't imagine a better way to have been introduced to Penland and its values. It was a fun, meaningful, and memorable experience, and Elizabeth opened my eyes to the richness of the Penland community and the field of blacksmithing. She continues to be an inspiration as someone who defines the value of relationships and the connection through all crafts.

7 Warren Holzman

Calicem, Purificatorium, and Lumina Steel, candles 13½ x 9 x 9 inches

The piece is reminiscent of a ritual chalice on which lit candles stand. Stamped repoussé portraits of Elizabeth Brim ornament the base. Twenty-eight years ago, Elizabeth was the only smith I knew who was using steel to represent the soft character of cloth and upholstery, so I have included an element representing cloth. I also wanted to capture something of Elizabeth's maximalist design impulse in my piece. Elizabeth has had a huge influence on me as an artist and blacksmith. Her unwavering support for me and my work, like her commitment to blacksmithing and Penland School, has been remarkable. I am honored to call her my friend.

8 Marvin Jensen

Flower Vase
Anodized aluminum
8½ x 4½ x 2½ x inches

It's an honor to be able to say that I was Elizabeth's first metals instructor.

9 Rachel Kedinger

Pitcher and Cup Set

Steel, enamel

Pitcher: 5 x 6 x 4 inches;

cups: 21/2 x 21/2 x 21/2 inches

This pitcher and these cups are mild steel that has been welded, inflated, and enameled. I learned the inflation technique from Elizabeth in a Penland workshop. I first met her in the summer of 2014, and over the years she has taught me so much about metalwork and life. I am forever grateful to call her a friend and mentor. She is generous and kind and a truly wonderful human who represents what I love about Penland.

10 Dave MacDonald

Power of The PearlsMild steel, rivets, enamel paint, wax finish

14 x 12 x 4 inches

When I signed up for an eight-week Concentration workshop with Elizabeth brim, she contacted me to make sure I understood that it was a beginning-level class. She noted that on my application I said that I had been blacksmithing since 1990, which was true. I said, "I want to be a beginner again with you and learn it all over." Elizabeth did not disappoint me. I remember watching with awe at perhaps our first demo, when she taught the class how to build a fire at the forge. She made it a graceful, patient, and almost magical process. It was like I was seeing the craft from a totally new vantage point, and I was in love with it all over again. Elizabeth and Penland helped me forever reshape how I approach my craft, and I am deeply grateful to her and for my times at Penland.

11 Marc Maiorana

Candlesticks
Steel
8½ x 6 x 4 inches

Elizabeth has pushed the boundaries of what steel can do from the moment she arrived at Penland, inspiring and connecting the blacksmithing world in the process. An added benefit of my time as a Penland resident artist was having Elizabeth down the hill. She livens any space she enters with a grin, a beer, and of course, her contagious laughter.

12 Zack Noble

Forged Circle

Forged iron

A second version, titled Forged Rectangle, is not shown here.

Elizabeth is the truest artist I know. From the work she produces to the way she lives; her animals, her flowers, her bows, clothes, and pearls; the stories she tells and the music she listens to, there is something wonderfully different about her. I would not be where I am today without Elizabeth, and I am so proud to be able to call her a friend and colleague. She has done so much for the blacksmithing world, from tirelessly promoting the Penland iron studio to setting in motion hundreds of beginning blacksmiths. Congratulations, Elizabeth! I love you!

13 Susan Owen and Charles Coffey

Steel and Real (three versions)

Forged steel, pearls, seed beads, sterling silver, stainless steel cable 16–22 inches long

We met Elizabeth over 20 years ago. She was an inspiration from the get-go: how easy she was to be around, how easily she shared knowledge, and how she encouraged us to think outside the box and to just create. We have been aspiring black-smiths ever since, but we have mastered the art of being blacksmith groupies. Charles forged the graduated steel pearls, and Susan designed and created the necklaces, including forging the little bows. Most of the natural pearls used are vintage.

14 Suzanne Pugh

Elizabeth's Pearls

Steel, copper, magnets 3 x 3 x 12 inches

These "pearls" are strung together with rare earth magnets. It's fun to move them around to find the perfect arc. I first met Elizabeth at the fabled Repair Days in Memphis in 1994. I was lucky enough to work alongside her when we were Penland studio coordinators, and now I get to spend time with her as a friend and fellow metalsmith. Elizabeth has always been so generous with her time and knowledge, from the punishing days of Penland studio budgeting to tips and tricks for metalsmithing techniques.

15 John J Rais

remained so ever since.

Betty's Bow

Forged steel
16 x 12 x 14 inches

I chose perforated steel for this vessel form because Elizabeth and I have both used it in some of our most noted works. The forged steel ribbon is an ode to Ms. Brim and the hair bows she often wears. I met Elizabeth in 1998, right after graduate school, at the ABANA conference in Asheville. I immediately felt we were friends, and we have

16 Mike Rossi

Inflated Candleholder
Inflated steel, enamel paint
14 x 12 x 12 inches

I learned the process of inflating steel from Elizabeth while I was her studio assistant. As a class we welded up all our pieces, then waited until night, turned out the lights, and heated and inflated them one after another while a three-piece band played in the corner of the studio! I remember it as a blur of heat and light: the forge glowing and reflecting off of everyone's faces, huge noise from the crowed that had gathered, and lots of laughing and shouted delight with each new piece being transformed as it puffed out.

17 James Viste

Moonrise over Penland
Forged and fabricated steel, patina 8 x 4½ x 2 inches

One can learn the most from someone through their stories, especially those that make you laugh. Elizabeth does this best.

18 Haley Woodward

Spring Candleholder
Steel
8 x 8 x 8 inches

The structure of this forged candle holder was created with power-hammer work, and they are adorned with floral forms, forge-welded together, pulling a page from the Elizabeth Brim playbook. She is a friend and consistent inspiration.

19 Stephen Yusko

Inflated Party Favor Tube of Flowers
Steel

4 x 15 x 4 inches

Many years ago, using material that she had inflated like a party favor blowout during a demo for my class at Penland, I made a piece for Elizabeth Brim. It was like a toothpaste tube squirting a squiggle of rusted steel. When asked to make something to honor Elizabeth, I remembered that piece, and I also thought about the flowers that she makes. My cynosures are made from another inflated party favor that Elizabeth gave me combined with my flowers and pods, which have a more industrial feel than her beautiful forged flowers.

Resident Artists

Penland Resident Artists are full-time artists who spend three years living and working in the school's community. The program is designed for artists who are at some pivotal moment in their career. The residency is an opportunity for them to test ideas and make choices that will have a lasting effect on their work and their lives. Resident artists may use the time to develop their studio practice, to work out the practicalities of making a living, to push technical and conceptual boundaries, or to explore entirely new directions in their work.

The Penland Resident Artists will host Coffee at the Barns on Saturday morning. Auction attendees are invited to pick out a souvenir auction mug, enjoy a hot drink and some light fare, and join a studio walkthrough.

Adam Atkinson's practice is multifaceted, centering on craft and community engagement. His work documents relationships between gender and the body using adornment and small-scale woodcarving as formats for exploration. His work has been exhibited nationally and internationally, including Nagoya Zokei University in Japan and the Craft Council of British Columbia. among others. Prior to his time at Penland. he was a resident at the Baltimore Jewelry Center. In addition to his studio work, he is co-founder of Spectral Matter, an ongoing LGBTQIA+ exhibition platform; he was co-chair for the East Carolina University Symposium in 2019; and he has been an instructor at Virginia Commonwealth University and Boise State University. He received a BFA in interdisciplinary studies from Boise State University and an MFA in metal design from East Carolina University.

Daniel Garver, originally from Wisconsin, holds a BFA from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. He has participated in a variety of residencies, including Jentel Foundation, AZ West, The Bright Angle, Haystack, Houston Center for Contemporary Craft, Penland Core Fellowship and Western New Mexico University. His work has been shown throughout the US in a variety of group and solo exhibitions. His studio practice explores systems that create complex visual and structural compositions in both ceramics and drawings.

Julia Harrison is a sculptor and jeweler who was based in Seattle for the last twenty years. She holds an MFA in metals and an MA in applied anthropology and was drawn to both fields by an interest in the ways in which objects can convey emotions and mediate relationships. Julia uses a variety of materials and processes, but carving and wood are at the heart of her practice. She has taught workshops on small-scale woodworking and carving at schools including Penland, Haystack, Arrowmont, and the 92nd St Y in New York City. As a resident Julia is exploring new possibilities in her carving practice and working with new materials.

Everett Hoffman is an interdisciplinary artist whose work reconstructs everyday material debris to create narratives about identity, gender, and sexual desire. Everett attended Boise State University where he graduated with a BFA in studio art. He received an MFA in craft/ material studies from Virginia Commonwealth University in 2018. He has completed residencies at Arrowmont and the Baltimore lewelry Center. Everett has written for Metalsmith and Art Jewelry Forum, and his work has been published in BmoreArt, Metalsmith, and Jewelry and Metalsmithing Survey. His work has been exhibited at the Virginia Museum of Contemporary Art, Contemporary Craft (Pittsburgh), Soil Gallery (Seattle), and the Benaki Museum (Athens, Greece).

Sean O'Connell is a studio potter making contemporary ceramic tableware for everyday living and creating comfortable domestic spaces. For Sean, making pottery is a deliberate attempt at slowing down, connecting to something deeper, and taking time to appreciate the pleasure of labor. Prior to his arrival at Penland, Sean was the programs coordinator at the Red Lodge Clay Center, had previously taught at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, and was visiting faculty at the Alberta College of Art & Design.

Ellie Richards is interested in the role that furniture and domestic objects play in creating opportunities for a deeper connection between people and place. Ellie looks to the tradition of woodworking and the readymade to create eclectic assemblages, installations, and objects exploring the intersection of labor and leisure. Her work has been exhibited at the Mint Museum and the Center for Craft (NC), SOFA Chicago, and Contemporary Craft (Pittsburgh). She has taught at Yestermorrow Design/Build School (VT), Appalachian Center for Craft (TN), and Haystack (ME). This year she is a resident fellow for the Furniture Society: Craft for a Greater Good Initiative partnering with University of North Carolina Asheville's Steam Studio and BeLoved to bring handmade furniture to its communities.

Sarah Vaughn creates sculptures that pause to consider pivotal moments and reclaim lost potential. Much of her work exploits the preconceived perception of glass as a material to help articulate the topics being explored. She discovered glass while pursuing a BFA at Southern Illinois University Carbondale, where her thesis was honored as the sole recipient of the Rickert-Ziebold Trust Award in 2007. Her work has been collected and exhibited internationally. She has been a resident artist at the University of Oregon's Craft Center, The WORKS Museum (OH), and Glass Wheel Studio (VA). She received a Research and Creativity Grant from the Rochester Institute of Technology, where she received her MFA in 2014. She has forged several award-winning collaborative practices with fellow artists and friends. She enjoys life in the mountains, where she spends time with her dog while pursuing new veins of her work and fixing broken rocks.

Adam Whitney is a metalsmith who focuses his artwork on the traditional silversmithing techniques of raising, chasing, and repoussé. These long-established processes enable him to shape sheet metal into seamless dimensional sculptures and hollowware. Through historical and ancient metalwork, Adam finds inspiration for his work and enjoys exploring and rediscovering the depth of his time-honored craft. When not in his studio, he enjoys traveling for various projects and to teach workshops, taking his passion for metalsmithing wherever he goes. He received a BFA in crafts/materials studies from Virginia Commonwealth University.

Core Fellows

The Penland Core Fellowship is a two-year work-study fellowship that offers emerging artists the opportunity to explore artistic interests and career possibilities in a supportive artistic community. Core fellows are energetic, bright lights who soak up everything and bring something truly special to the Penland community. These artists fully engage with Penland by taking workshops, working in their own studios, and performing integral jobs for the school.

The core fellows will host a pop-up show of their work in the Core Gallery in The Pines. The core fellows will be at the pop-up on Friday from 3:00–5:00 PM.

Kimberly Jo is a cross-disciplinary artist working primarily with printmaking, ceramics, and textile crafts. They received their BFA in printmaking and were a Post Bac resident in ceramics at the Hartford Art School in Connecticut. Their education in multiple disciplines has naturally grown into a practice focused on the cross-pollination of materials and techniques, which they are further exploring here at Penland.

Brandon Lopez is from Philadelphia, PA; He received his BFA from the Tyler School of Art and Architecture. He then went on to work for several glass artists and studios, making production work and sculpture. His own work focuses on mixed-media installation sculpture, mostly combining glass and ceramic. During his fellowship, Brandon hopes to expand his skillset and take steps to develop a studio practice.

Nicholas McDonald is a recent graduate of Lyon College where he studied political science and art. Assisting his mentor and professor, Jamie Berry, he gained an education in both functional and sculptural ceramics. His current work investigates the complexities of creating as a Black artist through a historical lens. Paying homage to African craft processes while using the aesthetics of modern American culture, Nicholas's multimedia approach seeks to explore the intersections of his diasporic identity and American context.

Lisa Nguyen was raised in Orlando, Florida and received her BA in furniture design and woodworking at San Diego State University. Prior to coming to Penland, she was a ceramics studio tech at Crealde School of Art in her hometown and worked as an administrative intern for The Furniture Society. As a core fellow, Lisa intends to explore other mediums while keeping in mind how to merge these materials with wood for future practice. Her current furniture work explores ways to be more mindful—especially to those living with us—using her cat as an inspiration. She then takes these elements and combines them with forms and structures typically seen within Greek architecture. Making sculptural yet functional forms is central to her work.

Grace Anne Odom is a craftsperson working primarily with photography and metals. She received a degree in psychology from Hendrix College in 2019, and worked in various areas of social work during and after completing this degree. The experiences in this field became a foundation of her work. After many years seeking to connect others with craft practices, she has come to Penland to deepen her own craft knowledge and form a community with other makers.

Celia Shaheen is a craftsperson, teaching artist, and lifelong student from Texas. In 2020, Celia graduated with a BFA in studio art, a BA in honors art history, and a museum studies certificate from the University of Texas at Austin. She also studied fiber art and papermaking at the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design, Ox-Bow School of Art, Paper & Book Intensive 2018, and at Penland. Celia's studio practice oscillates at the intersection of archiving and making, using materials across the spectrum of textiles, printmaking, bookmaking, and papermaking to investigate and discuss feminist labor and craft, Lebanese culinary traditions, posthumanist folklore, and the shared histories of textiles and storytelling.

Amal Tamari is a maker who recently graduated from Earlham College where she received a BA in studio arts with a focus on ceramics. Amal's work deals with finding the beauty in the mundane objects of the world and capturing their beauty within the language of still lifes. Amal has apprenticed for ceramicists at the Archie Bray Institute for the Ceramic Arts and has shown work at Companion Gallery and Good Habit Pottery Co. Amal is hoping to use her time at Penland to explore new media outside of clay, including wood and textiles.

Lily Wilkins has a BFA from Maryland Institute College of Art. Her work has been exhibited at Banana Factory (PA), Palazzo Dei Cartelloni (Florence, Italy), MutMuz (Los Angeles), Los Angeles Contemporary Exhibitions, Human Resources (Los Angeles), and virtually by Ladies' Room (Los Angeles), and MICA Student Space (Baltimore). Examining the configurations of modules within architecture and industrial landscapes, her work studies the repetition and process of these structures through a form of reconstruction with fiber materials.

Our Grateful Thanks Go to the Following:

Generous Artists

Penland artists are truly the heart of our community. They teach from the heart; they give all they have to their students. They hold space for this mountain and this school, and they generously give their labor of love when they donate to this event. You have our deepest gratitude.

Super Volunteers

With your powers combined, we can do anything! Over these recent years, we've had to reverse, pivot, adapt, stop, and then hit the gas hard again. And we would never be able to do that without this loyal band of amazing humans. You are the scrapers, lifters, scrubbers, carriers, joy bringers, song singers, unstoppables. And we are truly amazed by you. Thank you for coming back year after year in the name of art and friendship!

A Captain and an Auctioneer walk into a tent...

Though it sounds like the start of a funny joke, it's no joke when Jesse Miller and Corey Pemberton take the stage together. After the art, this delightful pair is the best things under the tent! Thank you for bringing your energy and pizazz to raise paddles and make this event fun!

Mugs, Mugs, Mugs

For many years Cat Coulter Lloyd has been a Penland student, winter resident, patron, and volunteer. And now we add auction mug maker to that list! With the help of her sister, Kelly Coulter Knapp, she made beautiful mugs meticulously decorated with stamps and fabrics in hues of blue, yellow, pink, and purple. We are thrilled to share these lovely mugs at this year's event!!

Featured Artists Tanya Crane and Dan Estabrook

Along with donating remarkable work to the auction, these two inspiring artists and committed teachers invited our videographers into their studios to share their processes and thinking.

Communications Team

As ever, a huge thank you to Robin Dreyer, Claire Drennan Jarvis, and designer Ele Annand for capturing the spirit, playfulness, excitement, and energy of Penland in ways that connect us to our community and beyond online and in print.

Important Information for Buyers

Please read the following conditions of sale carefully.

General Rules

Regarding both the live and silent auctions, Penland School assumes no risk, liability, or responsibility for the authenticity, quality, or value of the items. Estimates of values and descriptions have been made based on information provided by artists. Everything is sold "as is" and is subject to the conditions and restrictions stipulated in the catalog.

Bidder Numbers

All sales are recorded and tracked by the bidder number which appears on your paddle, name tag, and registration packet. Use this number when placing a bid at the silent and live auctions. Bid paddles are part of the registration packet. If you registered with a guest, you and your guest will share the same bidder number unless you request otherwise. Additional bidder numbers can be assigned at the check-in table until 12:30 PM on Saturday.

Silent Auctions

Bid sheets will be prominently displayed near each item. Minimum bids will be recorded on the bid sheet. You may not bid below the minimum bid or above the closeout bid. To bid in the silent auction, write your bidder number next to the amount that you wish to bid. Please use the incremental amounts specified on the bidding sheets. Bids that do not use these amounts will not be honored. If you choose the closeout bid at the bottom of the card, no other bids will be accepted. Designation of your bid as the winning bid is a legal contract to purchase the item.

Live Auction

The live auction will begin after lunch on Saturday. Bid increments are set by the auctioneer, who may vary the increments at his discretion. The auctioneer will explain bidding rules at the beginning of the live auction. The highest bidder for any item shall be the purchaser. In the event of a dispute, the auctioneer will have the sole and final discretion to determine the successful bidder or to re-offer or resell the article in question. Designation of your bid as the winning bid is a legal contract to purchase the item.

Payment

Tickets and art purchases may be paid for with cash, personal checks, Visa, MasterCard, Discover, or American Express. All sales are final and must be settled by the close of the auction. To expedite the checkout process, if you did not save a credit card when you registered online or want to designate a different card for art purchases there will be an option to pre-swipe your credit card at the check-in table for all auction purchases made during the weekend.

Check out tables are located in the Northlight Social Hall Friday 6:00–7:00 PM and on the Pines Porch for the duration of Saturday's live auction. Checkout will close at 4:30 PM on Saturday. Items may be picked up once payment is complete.

As a registered 501(c)(3) charitable organization, Penland is permitted one tax free event per year. The annual benefit Auction serves as that event; as such, North Carolina sales tax is not charged on purchases made during the duration of the event. Successful bidders are purchasers of the items of value. As such, the bids are not tax-deductible except in the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the item's fair market value. The amount paid above value, if any, will be printed on your invoice. Please keep invoices for your records and consult with your tax adviser.

Pick-up

Items sold on Friday will be available for pick-up on Friday from 6:30–8:30 PM at the Print Studio or on Saturday from 3:30–5:00 PM in front of the Dye Shed. Items sold on Saturday will be available for pick-up on Saturday from 3:30–5:00 PM in front of the Dye Shed; cynosures (centerpieces) will be available for pick-up on The Pines porch. You will need to present your receipt or purchaser slip at Art Pick-up to receive items. Works of art will be packed for transport, if possible. Please note: the volunteers working at the pick-up area are packing and moving all of the art sold on both Friday and Saturday. You may experience a brief delay in receiving your purchase. Please be patient with our volunteers.

Shipping

If you wish to have an item shipped, please indicate this when you pay for your purchases at the check out tables. You will be asked to fill out a shipping form. Shipping fees are in addition to art purchases. If they exceed $100, a staff member will contact you for approval. Items will be shipped via UPS ground, FedEx, or USPS and will be insured for the purchase price.

Penland is closed for fall sabbatical September 4-8, please allow three to eight weeks for packing and delivery. Crated items may require additional time for packing and delivery. Items marked "$$$ shipping" may incur higher shipping costs due to high insurance values, weight, or oversize packaging requirements. Items marked "Crate + shipping" may require crating and freight delivery. The minimum cost of a crate is $150 plus the cost of freight delivery service. Shipping charges will include the carrier costs, insurance, packing materials, and a $25 handling fee for each item shipped.

Absentee Bids

Absentee Bidding is available for Cynosures, Silent Auction and Live Auction items. If you are only interested in bidding you may purchase the Absentee Bidding ticket for $25 (includes auction catalog). Bids will be accepted by phone or fax until noon on Friday, August 25. Successful absentee bidders will be notified on Monday, August 28 and will be invoiced for the purchase price and the cost of shipping. For information about absentee bidding, please contact Cindy Gibson at 828.765.2359 x 1308 or by email at bidding@penland.org.

Friday Silent Auction

101 Sarina Angell

Reunion

Cotton, seersucker 24 x 24 inches

Retail value: $850

This piece is part of an ongoing series of portraits of barns and other farm structures in states of decay and dilapidation. I find peace in the graceful surrender to entropy and hope to capture it as quietly as it happens.

102 Kit Paulson

Comb

Flameworked borosilicate glass 9 x 8 x 2 inches

Retail value: $900

This is a glass comb sculpture, not to be worn.

Retail value: $200

Hope is a thing with feathers.

107 Marlene True

Garden Path

Copper, enamel, sterling silver $3 \times 3\% \times \%$ inches

Retail value: $625

This piece was inspired by the tropical garden paths of Key West.

108 Cathy Adelman

Josephine the Singer, or the Mouse Folk Millimeter-style binding with custom paper, leather, graphite edge, leather endbands, custom cloth enclosure 20.5 x 15.3 x 1.1 centimeters (8 x 6 x ½ inches)

Story by Franz Kafka, translated by Willa and Edwin Muir, illustrated by Elizabeth Bertin; Press Intermezzo, Austin 1997, edition of 100

Retail value: $600

109 Linda Foard Roberts

Naturae, from the Becoming series Toned gelatin-silver print 24 x 18½ inches; 22 x 28 inches framed Retail value: $2,500

I have been exploring the inevitable movement of time in life, focusing on memory, the acceptance of imperfection, and our relationship to nature. I photograph my 21st-century surroundings using 8 x 10 cameras and vintage lenses. The book Passage is included with this piece.

110 Susan Feagin

Collage Vessel
Stoneware, colored slips,
screen-printed underglaze
7\(^4\) x 7\(^12\) x 6\(^14\) inches
Retail value: $350

This ceramic vessel is meant to suggest a paper collage made from scraps of wrapping paper, foil, old letters and small prints. It was fired in a soda kiln and the soda ash provided the final gloss surface.

111 Andrew Polk

Empty Nest
Lithograph
21 x 30 inches
Retail value: $800

This is a scene about moving on, in which creatures and plants reclaim what a human put in place.

112 Ann Coddington

Twined Stone

Twined linen and six-strand braid over stone 5 x 2 x 10 inches Retail value: $150

When I'm not in my studio, I love to spend time in nature, observing and meandering. I visit lakes and riverbeds, searching for smooth stones to incorporate into my work. The ancient basketry technique of twining creates a grid that emphasizes the contours of the organic stone form.

Maggie Jaszczak 113

Holder for Three Candles Oxidation-fired earthenware, slip, glaze 14 x 13 x 3 inches

Retail value: $360

114 Eileen Wallace

Modular #1 Letterpress 13 x 15 inches Retail value: $150

This print is from a series that uses modular matrices made from wood veneer and plexiglas printed in combination with wood type. Based on a 4-inch square as the smallest unit with additional sizes in increments of 4 inches, these matrices can be combined and recombined in myriad arrangements.

Friday Silent Auction

Leigh Anne Hilbert (Overlap Sewing Studio)

All the Blues Bag Set Waxed canvas, leather, canvas, cordura, solid brass hardware 20 x 16 x 3 inches

Retail value: $230

The tote has lots of pockets for the things you need everyday. The dopp kit will be your new favorite travel buddy. The Field Notes book cover will be your go-to for jotting down the things you want to keep clear. Abuse as you will and keep them forever.

116 Leigh Suggs

On Our Way
Handcut acrylic on yupo
22 x 22 inches
Retail value: $3,000

Although two-dimensional in nature, I transform my works in paper into sculpture-like forms through the manipulation of shadows, applied color, and reflections.

117 Martha Clippinger and Licha González Ruiz

Tap #4
Hand-dyed woven wool
33 x 30 inches
Retail value: $2.200

This work is part of an ongoing collaboration with Zapotec weaver Licha González Ruiz. I design each work and then Licha dyes the wool and weaves it on her pedal loom in Teotitlán del Valle, Oaxaca, Mexico. We've been making "tapetes" (Spanish for rugs) and bags together since 2014.

118 Marianne Dages

Hieroglyphic Silence I
Letterpress print on paper
16 x 11½ x 1½ inches
Retail value: $300

This piece is part of a body of work inspired by Ancient Egyptian magic, William S. Burroughs, and UFOs. I set antique wood and metal type by hand, creating a composition that suggests language but can't be read, thereby making it a silent image or a symbol with no referent.

119 Maria Fernanda Nuñez Alzate

Double-Yolk Table

Painted steel 16 x 16 x 18 inches Retail value: $475

The egg has become a recurrent element in my work as an advocate for privacy, fragility, and also sensuality. This table is a homage to the special and rare moments when an egg has two yolks inside.

120 Demitra Thomloudis

Proposed Excavation (Blue and Pink Square)

Brass, steel, powder coat, pencil, sharpie marker, sgraffito, acrylic paint 5½ x 2 x 3½ inches

Retail value: $850

I am fascinated by architectural sites in progress; the simultaneous chaos and order draws me in. Systems, colors, forms, and marks are observed and excavated from the built environment and reorganized to inhabit the space of the body as ornament.

121 Alicia D Keshishian

Fast Path

Handspun, hand-dyed Tibetan wool 31 x 62 inches Retail value: $1,600

My carpet designs are sent to Nepal where they are handmade from start to finish using child~free labor. Using 3-ply wool and a traditional Tibetan knot, the weaver hand-knots the rug, the design revealing itself, knot by knot, row by row. The result is an original and resilient carpet of extraordinary quality.

122 Courtney Martin

Vase

Wood-fired North Carolina clay 10 x 9 x 9 inches Retail value: $250

This vase was handbuilt from coils of North Carolina clay. It was fired to cone 11 in my wood kiln.

123 Eleanor Anderson

Cool Coil Basket
Felt, cotton
4 x 17 x 17 inches
Retail value: $400

Toss in your keys, hang it on the wall: this coil-built basket catches it all. Don't have enough color gracing your life? This basket will help.

124 Yolanda Sánchez

Love Letters #2

Oil on Arches paper 15 x 16 inches Retail value: $2,000 Courtesy of Kathryn Markel Fine Arts

I am interested in the joyful, playful, or even spiritual properties of light and believe strongly that we shape the world around us through our perceptions, awareness, and attention. I offer an invitation to awaken to beauty and delight, to a moment of contemplation, below the line of thought.

125 Tom HuangRugged Yet Refined

Walnut

43 x 17 x 15 inches Retail value: $3,000

My curiosity about tools and their effects on materials finds new expression as I explore the chainsaw as a texturing tool. This was done with a jig I created that allowed me to skim the surface of the half log creating the remarkably consistent yet rugged surface of the bench seat.

126 Suzanne Pugh

Double Candlestick

Copper

5 x 3 x 2 inches

Retail value: $800

Part of a new series of work inspired by Shaker aesthetics, this double candlestick was formed over stakes and silver soldered (brazed) together.
The candle cups were riveted and brazed for strength.

127 Kathy King

In Bed

Cone 10 Shigaraki porcelain, black slip

12 x 12 x 2 inches

Retail value: $600

I made this piece while at a residency in Shigaraki, Japan sponsored by Craft Schools USA. This piece shows two lovers (one masked) in bed. It is based on a pastel drawing of two women by Toulouse Lautrec of the same title and pays homage to one of few examples of lesbianism I was exposed to in art history.

128 Nate Cotterman

Champagne Sphere Glass and Ice Bucket Blown glass

10 x 10 x 7 inches Retail value: $550

The perfect host gift or holiday wedding present: our stunning Grey Ombre Fade Champagne Flutes with coordinated ice bucket.

129 Edna Madera

Ø35 Gem Necklace (Aquamarine)
24κ gold, 18κ palladium white gold,
18κ yellow gold, aquamarine, diamond
3/4 x 1/4 x 1/8 inches; chain: 18 inches
Retail value: $2,200

This is a one-of-a-kind gem necklace with geometric aquamarine in 18K yellow gold bezel, backed with 18K palladium white gold, accented with 24K feather detail and bezel-set diamond. It's finished with 18K yellow gold cable chain with beaded accents and a hook and eye clasp.

Ode to the Penland Pear Tree Canvas, photography, acrylic paint, spray paint, epoxy resin, mica powder pigment 24 x 36 x 2½ inches

Retail value: $1,600

Old meets new in this mixed-media collage painting. I took the photo at Penland in the summer of 1988 In 2023 I digitized it and collaged it in a contemporary painting. The piece is a nod to Penland, traditional black and white photography, and abstract art.

131 Ken Carder

Insight Fullness
Cone 6 stoneware
7 x 7 x 20 inches
Retail value: $525

Preserving text in clay is the oldest form of writing. Clay's immediacy and plasticity make it the perfect armature to explore the meaning of form and language together.

132 Julia Harrison Craft Deco Basket

This piece has been moved to the live auction. It will be sold as lot 349. See page 100 for listing.

133 Tim McCreight

Camp Knife
01 tool steel,
brass, Micarta
71/4 x 1 inches
Retail value: $200

This piece was made specifically for my book, Knives You Can Make published in 2020 by Brynmorgen Press. A signed copy of the book accompanies this one-of-a-kind knife.

134 Ashley Buchanan

Side Chain Combo Brass, powder coat 18 inches long Retail value: $330

When making my powder-coated metal jewelry, I focus on iconic imagery, decorative patterns, and familiar motifs to reference ornamentation and historical jewelry. My goal is to create wearable works of art that push the boundaries of jewelry while maintaining a clean, contemporary aesthetic.

135 Thor and Jennifer Bueno

Lime and Sky
Silvered blown glass
23 x 3 x 30 inches
Retail value: $3,000
$$$ shipping

This series is less grounded on earth than some of our pieces. It is airy and light with joyful movement and color. These triangular shapes seem to be connecting or separating as they tumble around.

136 Kensuke Yamada
Head
Ceramics
12 x 9 x 7 inches
Retail value: $750

137 Stanley Mace Andersen

Platter

Earthenware, glaze, ceramic stains 2 x 14 x 14 inches Retail value: $295

In-glaze painting, a.k.a. maiolica, is the decorative technique used to create the surface imagery, applying ceramic stains with brushwork.

138 Gertrude Graham Smith

Pair Vases

Porcelain; soda-fired to cone 10 $15\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$ inches

Retail value: $650

I celebrate the responsive nature of soft porcelain clay in my work. Freshly thrown clay is added in sections to build up each vase so I can make adjustments to the profile or shape as I go along. I trust this pair will bring enjoyment with presence and use.

139 Andy Rubin

En Plein Aire Portrait
Acrylic paint on book plate
8½ x 6½ inches

Retail value: $200

I repaint images from old books I find. This is from Audubon's Book of North American Mammals. This image is in nature, of nature, by nature. Hence the reference to "plein aire," which is painting in nature.

140 Daniel G. Clayman

Cradle of Light: Deerfield

Glass

25 x 11 x 5 inches Retail value: $2,400 $$$ shipping

My cast bowls capture the story of a useful object: every line, divot, and dent.

141 Critz Campbell Landscape Memory #13 Ash, milk paint, oil paint 14 x 14 x 2 inches Retail value: $400

142 Tim Tate

Portrait Of The Artist As a Young Bunny

Steel, mirrors, poly-vitro 14 x 9 x 16 inches

Retail value: $3,800

$$$ shipping

In the endless mirror box, there lies a young bunny who sees itself repeated over and over again, stretching into infinity. The young bunny remains centered and composed. It knows that each reflection is a part of who it is, and that it must embrace all of these aspects of itself in order to grow and thrive.

143 LUKE Haynes

Traditional Star #8

Heirloom quilts 30 x 30 x ¼ inches Retail value: $4,000

This piece is made from fragments of family quits, creating a dialogue between makers who weren't acquainted in life yet whose handwork becomes the fabric of experience through use by the generations that follow. It is pieced in a traditional pattern made up of other traditional patterns yet it exists as a modern take on the dialogue between those patterns.

144 Lauren Faulkenberry

Do You Have Time to Linger
Mixed-media collage with linocut print
8 x 8 inches; 12 x 12 inches framed
Retail value: $350

This piece blends printmaking with mixed-media collage and is inspired by Mary Oliver's poem, Invitation. My work draws from nature and my own desire to slow down, seek the wonder, and enjoy the stillness.

145 Rick Beck

White Dog

Cast and carved glass 11 x 16 x 4 inches Retail value: $2,500

This work was created using only solar (PV) energy. The white dog is a tribute to Tank, a stray we adopted at Penland in 1992.

146 Dail Dixon

Birds of Penland Series #30 Lower Clay, Coil Built Cherry, recycled ebony 14½ x 7¼ x 5¼ inches Retail value: $750

Who isn't amazed at small coils of clay becoming pieces of unimaginable height, complexity, and beauty?

147 Warren Mackenzie

Vase Stoneware

5¼ x 5½ inches Retail value: $200

Signed with an impressed M.

148 James Henkel Standing Roses Archival inkjet print 20 x 16 inches Retail value: $1,200

This piece is from a continuing series of photographs that investigate our ideas of beauty and the way we understand and present it.

149 Maia Leppo

Black Tulips
Steel, colored porcelain
18 x 1¼ inches
Retail value: $800

I often explore repetition in my work, whether I am working in steel or porcelain. This tulip is a shape I use often. I often go back and forth between different techniques and the use of computer and hand.

150 Bob Trotman

Shaker
Graphite, gouache
13 x 16 inches framed
Retail value: $400

A three-view drawing of a wooden sculpture that is in the permanent collection of the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art.

151 Jennifer Ling Datchuk

Kitty Kat Pat Scratcher
Porcelain
9 x 4 x 1 inches
Retail value: $800

A personal back scratcher to give yourself a pat on the back for surviving the past few years and hopefully thriving and on the other side of it.

152 Béatrice Coron

Encounter

Cut Tyvek 10 x 10 inches

Retail value: $450

This piece reflects encounters around chinoiseries and the taste of France's decorative arts for a fantasized China, juxtaposing fantasies, myths, and realities. Each viewer can imagine his or her stories behind such encounters.

153 Bill Griffith

Tray

Stoneware, glaze ½ x 20 x 4½ inches Retail value: $265

This tray is handbuilt using slab technique. Various textures are pressed and stamped into the clay to create the pattern.
Use it for your cheese and vegetable arrangement or as a sushi tray.

154 Lisa Blackburn

Where Moss Grows

Polymer photogravure print on BFK Rives paper 30½ x 15¼ inches framed Retail value: $600

This artist's proof is from a body of work that started in the early days of the pandemic when I became interested in moss as one of the oldest and most resilient species of plants.

155 Marsha Owen

Covered Bowl

Wheelthrown earthenware, terra sigillata 11 x 6 inches Retail value: $300

156 Caroline Douglas

With These Hands
Salt-fired stoneware,
mosaic mirrors
7 x 1½ x 5 inches
Retail value: $350

Since having a severe head injury, my motivation is to emphasize how creativity heals. This piece is about how love heals too.

157 Hiroko Yamada

Mokume-Gane Band

14K rose gold, 14K palladium gold, fine silver, titanium

1 x 1 x 1 inches

158 Terry Gess

Urn

Red stoneware, glazes 16 x 16 x 21 inches Retail value: $2,000 $$$ shipping

This piece is from my recent exploration of large scale forms—the perfect opportunity to engage glaze and brushwork with expansive surface.

159 James Malenda Sea Shell Spectacles Cowry shells, brass 2½ x 6 x 1 inches Retail value: $3,000

My spectacle pieces are an ongoing series that make statements about eye contact. I often use the spectacles as studies of both form and color for larger works.

160 Lynn Sures

Cave of the Wind 1, Edition #17 Artist-made paper with pigmented flax pulp, screenprint, glass beads 18 x 12 inches

Retail value: $600

Inside the Frasassi Caves I drew giant stalagmites and stalactites. I was immersed in the sounds of dripping water and the vastness of the interior of a mountain. Cave walls, ceiling, floor—all are highly textured and sculpted. The raised, tactile printed lines on the image trace the lines I drew within the caves.

161 Jeana Eve Klein

Perfection

Recycled fabric, house paint, sequins, beads 14 x 14 x 1 inches

Retail value: $900

Making this work is a playful return to my studio after so much pandemic stagnation. Each step in the process is a conversation between me, the materials, and elements already in place. After I'm certain there is nothing more to add, I title each composition after a nail polish color I currently own.

162 Danni Xu

Rebirth

Copper

12 x 3 x 3 inches

Retail value: $820

This piece is part of a collection of handmade sculptures inspired by my personal journey of overcoming life's challenges. The process of hand-raising each piece is a metaphor for personal growth, highlighting the physical and mental effort required to shape metal and overcome obstacles in life.

163 Lynn Duryea

ARCH #2

Terra cotta, low-fire oxidation, kanthol wire, paint 121/2 x 81/2 x 3 inches

Retail value: $900

This slab-constructed sculpture is an abstraction of the letter A and also has an architectural reference.

164 David Harper Clemons and Mia Hall

Iris

Colored pencil on poplar, blackened steel 45 x 19 x 8 inches
Retail value: $3,500
$$$ shipping

The forged steel bloom was created by David after studying the beautiful blue irises outside the Lily Loom building. The wood component was made by Mia as a response to David's iris. This piece is a one-of-a-kind collaboration.

165 Sanam Emami

Serving Bowl
Stoneware, slip, stencils
12 x 12 x 4 inches
Retail value: $350

I made this bowl while teaching at Penland last summer. It was a wonderful opportunity to rethink my own process and habits as we all shared ideas about pattern, color, and function with each other.

166 Mark Hewitt

Vase

Salt-glazed stoneware, melted ash 14³/₄ x 7¹/₂ inches Retail value: $300

This vase with lug handles and three little medallions at the throat is made with regional clays. The wood ash flying through the kiln landed and melted down the body of the vase, creating a stunning effect—just one of the many reasons I love the controlled pyromania of the wood-firing process.

Saturday Silent Auction

201 Billy Renkl

Colosseum, Rome
Mixed media on cyanotype on antique Italian documents
28 x 20 inches;
34 x 25 inches framed

Retail value: $1,200

I started this image by scanning an engraving from an antique architectural history book. I made an enlarged digital negative, cut into sections, and used these to print the image onto antique documents using cyanotype. After I reassembled it, I added color with various media.

202 Joanna Gollberg

Collage Earrings
Sterling silver, 18K yellow gold, peridot, emeralds
2 x 3/4 inches
Retail value: $780

These are part of a new series of work. I am making little collages out of metals and stones, which are beautiful, a little funky, interesting, and wearable.

203 Dan Price

Cowl
Corriedale wool
18 x 8 x 1 inches
Retail value: $400

This cozy cowl is made from hand-dyed Corriedale wool. Though the colors and texture of this handmade accessory evoke the tones of the deep forest in midsummer, it will keep you warm on the coldest days of winter.

204 Janet Taylor

Night Blooming Lily

Handwoven silk; printed and embroidered

22 x 46 inches Retail value: $1,200

This piece is a part of a series using handwoven fabrics with printing and French knot embroidery as a form of pointillism.

205 Stormie Burns

Bloom Brick

Slipcast porcelain, glaze 13¾ x 3¾ x 6 inches Retail value: $280

This piece was slip cast with black porcelain and glazed with a subtle white gloss.

206 Keun Ho Peter Park

Turtle Ship—Geobukseon (Mint)
Basswood, walnut, milk paint
4 x 10 x 3½ inches
Retail value: $350

This piece is a hand-carved bandsaw box, inspired by the geobukseon or turtle ship, which was a large, pre-20th-century, Korean warship used by the Royal Korean Navy fighting against foreign invasion. To express the turtle back spike armor, I used a chip-carving technique and multi-colored milk paint layers.

207 Amy Tavern

Pendant No. 1 Sterling silver, mother-of-pearl, silk thread 3½ x 3¾ x 1¼ inches

Retail value: $500

This piece is part of a new series of jewelry, the first I have made since 2014. Ellipses, cut in half, are connected or "drawn" together with rivets and incised lines. The elements form compositions that are a kind of map, helping me to find my way.

208 Alyssa Salomon (Blue Skies Workroom)

Crossback Apron/Everyday Topper #2021/15

Hand screenprinted European linen

15½ inches across bib, 42 inches long; size 3 Retail value: $185

This is an apron for work and play. I design and sew goods in my central Virginia studio using textiles and papers I screenprint with patterns made from hand-drawn, hand-cut paper stencils.

and a Possibility
Clay, glaze

21 x 10 x 2 inches Retail value: $800

$$$ shipping

We each have a unique way of seeing: what catches our eye first, where our focus lingers, the cadence and tempo of our visual transit across an object. This piece includes elements to gently lead the eye, without erasing the freedom to find your own visual path. The elements of use are here as well, but how will you choose to use it?

210 Anne Petters

Book of Disquiet: Penland
Kiln-formed glass
11 x 5 x 6 inches
Retail value: $8,500
No shipping: hand delivery or pick-up only

This is part of a series of glass books that use a process I started to work with while searching for an immediate, expressive way of bringing drawing and text onto glass. They are physical manifestations of the intangible phenomenon of imagination: one interpretation of this liquid space as an attempt to freeze moments of thought.

211 Richard Margolis

Pont du Gard
Waxed gelatin silver print
22 x 28 inches
Retail value: $3,500

From the project, Bridges—Symbols of Progress, this print was processed by hand, then waxed, matted, and framed. It is #5 in an edition of 5.

212 Kenneth Baskin

Crucible Series #20
Soda-fired stoneware, steel pins
16 x 22 x 13 inches
Retail value: $3,200
$$$ shipping

Alchemy is popularly known for the idea that through extreme heat we can convert one substance into another. My interest in alchemy is focused on the objects used. The crucible is the object that contains the elements as they undergo transformation, making it the main tool of the alchemist and a main focus of my creative research.

213 Lauren Markley

Red Corrugated Brooch #2

Bronze, copper, enamel, sterling silver, stainless steel
2½ x 1¾ x ¼ inches

Retail value: $300

This brooch is a one-of-a-kind piece and part of a series of small sculptural pins. It is an experiment in color and form, combining the rich warmth of bronze with bold enamel colors.

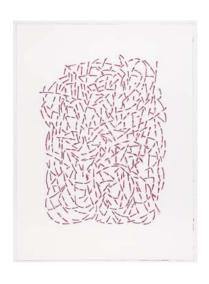

214 Morgan

and access to art supplies.

Linear Fiction #51
Marker and watercolor pencil
on Arches watercolor paper
16 x 12 inches
Retail value: $2,000

I explore my thought space with gestural meditations through color, composition, and repetition. The Linear Fictions series was created during the COVID-19 lockdown, limited by physical space

215 Pattie Chalmers

When there is nothing left to burn
Unglazed clay, dowel, plastic pipe, epoxy, candles
17 x 11½ x 7½ inches
(without candles)
Retail value: $2,200

This piece was inspired by the marble sculpture of the Veiled Lady by Raffaelo Monti. I was intrigued by the illusion of transparency in the piece. I wanted my candelabra to have some of these qualities, but rather than depict what seems to be a vulnerability or perhaps even a reticence, I hope to convey a sense of strength and resilience.

216 IlaSahai Prouty

Over Again

Paste paint on paper 23 x 38 inches

Retail value: $700

The intuitive, physical, and responsive process of paste painting acts as a counterpoint to my socially engaged work, which can be complex and emotionally draining.

217 Sang Parkinson Roberson Black Box

Terra cotta, terra sigillata, mother of pearl, coral bead 41/2 x 41/2 x 31/2 inches Retail value: $395

My works are relics of my childhood when I watched my dad build houses. I began building clay boxes that recall those idyllic days. My boxes are soft, quiet and hopefully pleasing to the eye as well as the touch. The findings on the lids often reflect my life by the sea.

Fu Fu Brooch #7 Steel, enamel 4 x 4 x ½ inches Retail value: $450

The chaos of daily life with a toddler both consumes and inspires me. When she builds or draws, she does it with no particular intent—just to enjoy the act and observe the outcome. Her mark-making is exuberant, intuitive, and sometimes irreverent as she knows she should not draw on a wall or floor. It is this chaotic, beautiful spontaneity that inspires this collection.

219 Vicki Essig

The Quiet Series: Seedbox and Wintergreen

Handwoven silk, wintergreen, seedbox

10 x 7 x 2 inches Retail value: $450

Nearly all of my work incorporates natural elements. I collect throughout the year at my home in Penland. My favorite time of year for gathering things for my work is the early spring. New growth of a plant seems to highlight the spent pods or blooms from the previous year. I find these things the most intriguing.

220 Jennifer Bueno

Bearing Fruit
Hot-sculpted glass, wood, watercolor
22 x 11 x 25 inches
Retail value: $3,600
$$$ shipping

I use glass to explore the ineffable feeling that arises as I interact with the world. It is like an invisible realm where an emotional response is visible. It is also a place where the singular and the entirety shift in and out of balance. For example, the balance of humans and climate, animals and their altered habitats, humans and the world that they are changing.

221 Tom Jaszczak

Wall Tile with Vase Still Life Soda-fired red earthenware; cone 2 11 x 9 x 1 inches

Retail value: $450

This tile has cleats built into the back for hanging. This piece is a riff on my current venture into still life painting and inspirations.

222 Naomi Dalglish and Michael Hunt (Bandana Pottery)

Round Platter

Wild local stoneware, local kaolin slip, clear glaze, black decorating stain 16 x 3½ inches
Retail value: $375

This platter was made in and from the mountains surrounding Penland School!

223 Abie Harris

Penland Water Tower

Ink on paper 12 x 10 inches Retail value: $250

This was drawn while I was teaching a Penland workshop.

224 Cat Bates

Portal Necklace

Sterling silver, polyester cord; MDF and wool box

1 x 1 x ¼ inches; cord: 22 inches

Retail value: $445

I sand cast this pendant from a hand-made pattern: roughly sculpted in wax, lost wax cast in bronze, refined, details added, and finally packed in sand to create the mold cavity. The necklace is quite tough, and suitable for 24/7 wear, including in the ocean or shower.

225 Jay Burnham-Kidwell

Serving Set

Forged sterling silver, Corian 9 X 3 X $\frac{1}{2}$ inches

Retail value: $300

This continues a series of food-related works, to be used or admired.

226 Boris Bally

Hurricane Form

Upcycled aluminum traffic signs, oxidized copper

24 x 24 x 14 inches

Retail value: $1,200

$$$ shipping

This piece was pivotal as it began my experimentation with the bending brake. Eventually, this led to making the Transit Chairs and other brake-formed pieces.

227 Forrest Middelton (FLM Ceramics)

Four Dinner Plates with Pattern Reduction-cooled stoneware with image transfer 1 x 10½ x 10½ each

Retail value: $216

228 Frederick Gladding Kahl

Godgasm 313

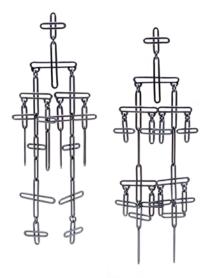

Ink on paper

24 x 18 inches; 29 x 23 inches framed

Retail value: $555

This drawing is from a series of sacred geometry works about non-duality, the oneness of being. The work is generated with a computer and then drawn by a CNC robot of my own construction.

229 Emily Rogstad

Array Earrings
Oxidized sterling silver
4 x 2 inches each
Retail value: $615

Handmade chain links are stacked, layered, and tiered to create these mismatched chandelier earrings.

230 Laura Jean McLaughlin

Dick Head

Porcelain, glaze, luster 16 x 14 x 7 inches Retail value: $2,400

Schlumpy funk, stream-of-consciousness-inspired wall sculpture.

231 Douglas Harling

Amethyst and Pearl Pendant
22K gold, faceted amethyst,
seed pearls; 18K yellow gold cable
1 x ¾ x ½ inches

Retail value: $1,800

This piece has a fabricated setting in rich 22K gold to complement the deep purple of the amethyst.

232 Rostislav Eismont

Kurinuki Container
Woodfired stoneware, shino glaze $5 \times 4 \times 5\frac{1}{2}$ inches
Retail value: $325

Kurinuki is a Japanese technique for carving pots from a solid block of clay. These recent forms start with the Japanese spiral wedging procedure. At some point a decision is made to retain the overlapping spiral form of the process. The exterior of the form is modified/refined and then hollowed out to form the container.

233 Alida Fish Penland Bear Grass

24 x 20 inches

Retail value: $900

For many years, a thick Bear Grass hedge grew all along the edge of Conley Ridge Road. A few years ago, while at Penland, I picked several stalks of that grass and constructed this image.

234 Cynthia Bringle Vessel
Soda-fired stoneware, wood

16½ x 8 x 8 inches Retail value: $1,400

235 Julia WoodmanComputer-Aided Pine Cone

This piece has been moved to the live auction. See page 94 for listing.

236 Tara Locklear

Survey: Arrange Ground Grid Pendant Upcycled skateboards, purple heart wood, Durat, leather, oxidized sterling silver 4 x 4 x 18 inches Retail value: $425

Using topographical photographs, woodworking, and jewelry engineering, I examine the systematic, linear, and colorful geometric forms that make up the surrounding landscapes and explore them through this body of work.

237 Sondra Dorn

Stonescape: With Veridian
Arches watercolor paper,
watercolor, water soluble crayons,
graphite, acrylic paints, acrylic mediums on birch panel
20 x 10 x 1½ inches
Retail value: $625

This piece is from an ongoing body of work that celebrates the landscape of Western North Carolina. Many of our roadways cut through layers of stone. I love the random compositions created by this exposed stone and the wild growth all over it. This is an endless source of inspiration.

238 Paige Hamilton Davis

Me, Myself, and I
Mild steel, wood, burning, paint
10 x 3 x 3 inches
Retail value: $1.200

This piece is about the idea of multiple personalities and what that might look like for an artist.

239 Liz Sparks

Oval Serving Bowl

Cone 3 clay, colored slips, ash glaze $18 \times 10 \times 5$ inches

Retail value: $300

240 Hitomi Shibata

Flower Rim Large Bowl

North Carolina stoneware, wild clay slips,

red iron oxide; wood-fired

11 x 21 x 21 inches Retail value: $1,600 $$$ shipping

I try to avoid using machine-made elements and instead rely on my hands, simple tools, natural materials, and wood firing. Drawing inspiration from Japanese pottery traditions and American ceramics, I fuse artistic styles that reflect my personal experiences and interests.

241 Frank Hamrick

Tree Rings Quilt
Relief prints on handmade cotton

rag paper stitched into a quilt 18 x 18 inches

Retail value: $325

The relief image is based on tree rings I photographed and printed on my handmade cotton rag paper and then stitched into a quilt.

242 Ben Dory

Cushion Solitaire
Stainless steel, nanosital
1 x 1 x ³/₄ inches; size 6¹/₄
Retail value: $700

These rings are one of my favorite styles to make. They're big enough to explore setting and pattern variations while showcasing the vibrant gemstone.

243 Margaret Couch Cogswell Sailing

Papier-mâché, acrylic paint, acrylic ink, screenprinted cotton fabric, thread 13½ x 4 x 14 inches

Retail value: $450

For years I've had this image in my head: bird as sailboat.

244 Rachel K. Garceau

Vesica 4
Porcelain
23 x 5 x 26 inches
Retail value: $1200
$$$ shipping

This is a snapshot of an exploration merging the forms of found seed casings with my current studies of sacred geometry.

245 Holly Roberts

Buck Dreaming
Mixed media
12½ x 1 x 8 inches
Retail value: $1,800

This image is from a photo I took of a large buck crossing my path on a bike ride in Colorado.

The image has been transferred to a prepared ground over an ink wash and compound medium, giving it a very soft, dreamlike quality.

246 Edwina Bringle

Flying Feathers Textiles, mixed-media stitched work 22 x 18 inches framed Retail value: $2,250

247 Greg Gehner

Displace

Steel

5½ x 2¾ x 2½ inches Retail value: $220

I am intrigued by contrasts of edge and surface in a single piece of forged steel. The gentle distortions and elongations that come from pushing cold metal into hot metal visually account for the forces of resistance and plasticity inherent in the forging process.

248 Hayden Wilson

Green Murrine Egg

Blown glass 16 x 9 x 9 inches Retail value: $900

This piece is made using an Italian murrine technique and is inspired by cellular forms found in nature. The egg form refers to new beginnings and hope for the unhatched future.

249 David Jones

Frond Necklace and Earrings

Fine silver, copper, sterling necklace: 18 inches; earrings: 1½ inches tall Retail value: $525

This latest series of work is an exploration of forging and minimalism, looking back at makers of the 20th century while adding my own twist and flavor.

250 Carmen Grier

Calypso

Oil on cradled panel 30 x 30 x 1% inches Retail value: $2,250

It is an honor for me to be able to paint.

Every day in the studio is like dancing with a very good partner: with color, shape, line and texture. Putting on, scraping off, deciding yes, no, maybe. It is a wonderful dance, and I am grateful to be its partner.

251 Rebecca Chamlee (Pie in the Sky Press)

Giant: a deity with leaves
Zerkall Book Wove, handmade kitakata, Korean hanji, handmade watercolor papers, book board, ink, book cloth

box: 12 x 8½ x 1½ inches; book: 7¾ x 11¼ x ¾ inches

Retail value: $1,000

A towering native oak has stood in a nearby wildland park for over 400 years. This is the story of how the ancient tree became a cherished presence in the life of the artist: a source of wonder, mystery and connection to the natural world.

252 Mary Zicafoose

Field Guide Study No.6: Meadow
Hand-dyed and ikat-wrapped wool on linen warp
48 x 30 inches
Retail value: $10,000
$$$ shipping

I am a tapestry weaver. Using massive, room-sized looms and delicate dyed wool and silk threads; I use timeless textile techniques to tell visual stories through woven cloth.

253 Tremain Smith

Fundamental Attitude
Oil and beeswax on panel
24 x 30 x 2 inches
Retail value: $3,700

I make art with a mixture of pure engagement with physical materials along with a movement toward personal freedom, a way of healing, a form of divination, and an aesthetic path reflecting spiritual realities.

254 Nicholas Joerling

Pocket Vase

High-temperature stoneware; wheelthrown and altered, wax-resist decoration 18 x 41/4 x 7 inches
Retail value: $285

255 Eleanor Annand

Oval Platter

Clay, slip, stain, slip-transfer 11/4 x 15 x 7 inches

Retail value: $250

Both near and far. During the pandemic I began creating compositions that feel both cellular and interplanetary, transporting me in and out of reality.

256 Lars Shimabukuro

Quintant Bandana

Cotton

22 x 24 inches

Retail value: $220

This is a cotton bandana woven in a twill block structure.

257 Lisa Pedolsky

Spot (Tripod Bowl)

Earthenware, multiple glazes; slab constructed, cone 03 101/4 x 10 x 41/4 inches

Retail value: $350

258 Paul Andrew Wandless

Print Maker

Linocut print on paper

24 x 17 inches

Retail value: $350

This self-portrait is a print in the tradition of the artist working in their studio. In this case it's a printmaker, but it also has imagery that nods to other mediums in which I work.

259 Winnie Owens-Hart

Fools Gold

White stoneware; thrown and altered, lustered and smoked $3 \times 3\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ inches

Retail value: $380

260 Janet Link Migration 24 Carbon pencil 4 x 4 inches

Retail value: $500

This is part of an ongoing series of 100 drawings derived from four cellphone photographs of shadows. These studies of pure light are a record of my exploration of the compositional and observational possibilities encountered while peering into a narrowly defined set of boundaries.

261 Suze Lindsay

Bottle Vase

Stoneware; thrown, altered, assembled, salt-fired
18 x 15 x 5 inches
Retail value: $700

My work is influenced by the study of historical ceramics, and this piece came about after working with Japanese master potter and Living National Treasure Ken Matsuzaki and observing his interpretation of bottle forms.

262 Libby O'Bryan and Giovanni Daina-Palermo (Rite of Passage)

Twisted Purse
Leather, cotton canvas
17 x 12 x 5 inches
Retail value: $225

Rite of Passage is small-batch clothing and accessories made to order in Asheville, NC. Exquisite sewn details honor the material and elevate the experience.

263 Melissa Engler and Graeme Priddle

Protection Bowl
Maple, milk paint, acrylic paint

5 x 9½ x 9½ inches Retail value: $1,800

The pattern on this piece is inspired by ancient protection symbols and is burned into the wood using custom brands. Our work is focused on protection of the natural world: the source of all sustenance.

264 Morgan Hill

Days of the Week Earrings

Holly, paint, sterling silver, steel Seven pairs in various sizes

Retail value: $570

Making jewelry allows me to explore new forms and ideas. It is playful, fun, colorful, and light. It also connects me with a broad audience of amazing people who use my work to express and indulge themselves.

265 Nick DeFord

Aura (Good Husband III)

Hand-stitched embellishment on found photograph

5 x 7 inches; 12 x 15 inches framed

Retail value: $400

This piece was inspired by early spirit photography that tried to capture spectral veils, spirit auras, or ectoplasm, but I work with textile hand-embellishment techniques instead of darkroom manipulation.

266 Kenny Pieper

Murrine Bowl
Blown glass
17 x 17 x 6 inches
Retail value: $1,200

A few years ago I went on a scuba diving trip and after getting back in the studio I started working with the murrine technique. The imagery I created was reminiscent of sea anemones, sea coral, and other creatures on the coral reef. These bowls are an extension of that exploration.

267 Warren Mackenzie

Covered Bowl

Stoneware 3 x 4¼ x 4¼ inches

Retail value: $250

Signed with an impressed M.

268 Jason Chakravarty

1 in 20 Cast glass, steel 16 x 12 x 2 inches Retail value: $3,000 $$$ shipping

This piece was part of a series exploring hot ladling onto sheet glass

Live Auction

301 Everett Hoffman

Green Spine

Zinc, vintage rhinestones, silver, stainless steel 4 x 2½ x ½ inches
Retail value: $800

Each stone is hand set into a sheet of zinc that has been pierced to create the settings. The zinc plate is riveted onto mirrored stainless steel allowing light to reflect and making the stones sparkle. The colors of the brooch were chosen to reflect the summer foliage in the Blue Ridge mountains.

302 Kari Russell-Pool

Color Wheel

Flameworked glass, framed 13 x 13 x 2 inches

Retail value: $3,000

I keep a similar color wheel sample in my studio to refresh my memory of the diversity of my palette and remind me of combinations that play well together.

303 Takuro Shibata

Untitled

North Carolina clays, iron oxide 11 x 11 x 16 inches

Retail value: $1,400

Creating triangle jars has become a profound passion of mine. Through this work I embrace the challenge of seamlessly integrating vertical and horizontal elements. My artistic journey revolves around exploring the boundaries of functionality and pushing the limits of what can be achieved with clay.

304 Sarita Westrup

Portal I

Reed, wire, thinset, cement, paint, graphite, wood, milk paint 23 x 16 x 5 inches
Retail value: $1,200

This piece is woven from reed and coated with cement to emulate the textures I encountered growing up in the South Texas borderlands.

305 Dan Bailey

Observatories: Camera Station Wo6 Archival inkjet print 36 x 26½ inches Retail value: $1.800

This series renders an expanded sense of time in depicting landscapes. It uses a slower rhythm to observe, reflect, and record images—one that is more on a geologic time scale. Observatories presents an alternative to a typical cursory, anthropocentric gaze and snapshot.

306 Warren Holzman

This Table's not Yellow, it's Chicken Brass, steel, nickel electroplate 12 x 24 x 31 inches Retail value: $5,000 $$$ shipping

This is my pandemic piece, started in 2020 when the shutdown started and completed the following year. The work is brass repoussé on a forged and fabricated base. The apron of the table features a fringe technique inspired by Elizabeth Brim's work.

307 Penland School of Craft

Spectacular Weekend at Penland

Minimum bid: $10,000

This exciting weekend includes a stay in the beautiful Penland guesthouse from Friday afternoon to Sunday morning. The weekend will start on Friday night as you join a group of artists at the new Copley House for cocktails and a small-plate dinner. Saturday will be a day of studio visits with some of the marvelous artists who live near the school. On Saturday night, put on your evening clothes and head back up to Copley House for a five-course dinner (with cocktails and wine pairings) prepared by a group of Penland's best cooks. Available only for May 3-5, 2024; up to eight people.

308 Susie Ganch

Untitled Necklace
Used bottle lids, Czech glass beads, sterling silver, silk
20 inches
Retail value: $750

This necklace is part of a series made with lids and bottles collected from my daily pill regimen. The lids are hand engraved and then couched with glass beads using dyed silk cord. The overall theme of this series is the relationship between our corporeal and planetary landscapes.

309 Kevin Snipes

The Places We Can Go Acrylic and ink on paper 17¹/₄ x 14 inches framed Retail value: $1,200

As an artist my hands allow me to take flight and travel through the landscape of my imagination. Birds, on the other hand, don't require imagination to take flight and travel, but they also don't have hands. We all have our individual superpowers.

310 Sylvie Rosenthal

Stacked Teapot 3

Poplar, basswood, paint $12 \times 9\frac{1}{2} \times 4$ inches Retail value: \$2,300

In my practice the teapot offers a site for my continued exploration of hybridity or how to to make a piece that is more than one thing at once.

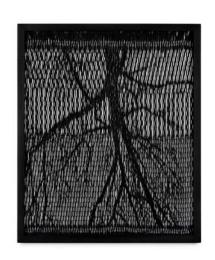

311 Tali Weinberg

Study for Arterial

Plant-derived fibers, petrochemical-derived monofilament, mounted on archival paper 20 x 24 inches

Retail value: $1,200

This piece is from a series of portraits of trees from a fire-scarred landscape re-materialized as hand-woven plastic using a TC2 digital jacquard loom. The trees are rendered upside-down, morphing into lungs and arterial systems, to depict the interconnections of the life-sustaining circulatory systems existing inside and out of the human body.

312 Sarah E Vaughn

Weatherworn Balance I

Glass

10 x 5 x 15³/₄ inches Retail value: $3,700 $$$ shipping

I have always been drawn to playgrounds, rivers, and lakes, where I become lost in a sea of smooth, colorful stones. Inspired by countless moments, I use glass to recreate the recollection of these rocks. Each glass stone was individually made from the same mass of glass. They are stacked and then adhered, creating the appearance of a truly precarious sculpture.

313 Lydia Martin

Curves of Pursuit
Sterling silver, 18K gold solder, lacquer, stainless steel pin stem
2½ x 2 x ½ inches
Retail value: $650

My jewelry is a record of intentions and consequences, a history of decisions made during the physical act of making. Each piece becomes a tangible catalogue of actions bearing the marks of their making, seams highlighted or hidden in turn by their color and finish.

314 Jeannine Marchand

Retail value: $1,800

315 Adriane Herman

Wreckage Salad (Orange Ladder)
Water-soluble crayon transfer monotype on hot press Fabriano Artistico paper
21½ x 28¼ inches
Retail value: $2,800

Each monotype in this series is a unique impression transferred from an ephemeral arrangement of hand-colored shapes representing material found in my local municipal woodpile. These shapes are cut out of tracing paper that is colored with water-soluble crayon on both sides to allow random scattering as I compose each print by combining a "pinch of this" with a "dash of that," a process that feels distinctly culinary.

316 James D. W. Cooper

Bench

Iron, mahogany 18½ x 42 x 15½ inches Retail value: $5,000 $$$ shipping

This bench is part of a body of work inspired by movement in the natural world.

317 Alex Bernstein

Amber Slice
Cast and carved glass
20 x 3 x 10 inches
Retail value: $6,200
$$$ shipping

This is cast and carved glass, using small pieces of glass annealed with larger blocks to give flashes of color within the piece, creating the feeling of the warmth of the sun's rays.

318 Dan Estabrook

Dumb Skulls Forever
Black glass ambrotype
14 x 17 inches
Retail value: $13,000
$$$ shipping

For the last several years, I have been working with the 19th-century wet-collodion process, making tintypes and ambrotypes—photographs on metal and glass. The images are created in my studio, often depicting handmade sculptural elements as part of a still life. The whole process is alchemical, material, and made by hand.

319 Julie Leonard

Pattern Plants

Handmade paper, found words and images

5½ x 7 inches Retail value: $175

This piece is part of a larger project working with handmade paper, dried flora, and found images and texts from 20th century botanical books. The fibers used to make the paper come from linens produced during that same time period. The inclusions are sandwiched between two sheets during the papermaking process so the composition is created while making the paper.

320 Amy Putansu

Hydrosphere II
Mixed fibers
20 x 15½ inches
Retail value: $900

This piece is handwoven using the ondulé technique, which produces waving interwoven threads. The panel was dyed and printed, then stretched and framed.

321 Paulus Berensohn and Jenny Mendes

A Space Odyssey
Clay, underglazes
8½ x 6½ x 4 inches
Retail value: $2,000

Before he died, Paulus entrusted me with several pieces to decorate. This one is such a beautiful form, and I had to be patient until it was ready to be decorated. Painting this piece was like a prayer that I came to understand as an inner and outer weaving of the heart.

322 Barbara McFadyen

Asian Fan Dangles 18K gold, fine silver, 24K gold 2¼ x 1¼ x ¼ inches Retail value: $650

Japanese art has long been my inspiration. These Asian fans were made in homage to my first trip to Japan when I fell in love with the land, people, art, and culture!

323 Daniel Essig

Arcane

Cherry, mahogany, mulberry, handmade paper, insect amber, lead type, antique fountain pen 18½ x 7 x 6½ inches Retail value: $3,800

This is the first in a new series inspired by Miriam Carpenter and Melissa Engler's carving workshop at Penland.

324 Adam Whitney

Headless Gander Vase

Bronze

5½ x 4 x 5 inches Retail value: $2,000

The headless gander vase is a piece I slowly worked on over the last three years. I would hammer on this piece in between other projects and never had a design in mind until this goose body began to emerge.

325 Cedric Mitchell

Starlight

Cold constructed, blown glass 24 x 8 x 8 inches

Retail value: $2,300

This piece was created during a residency at Corning Museum of Glass. It draws inspiration from Postmodernism and 17th century Chinese glass, which is known for its bright colors and stacking of parts.

326 Tanya Crane

Color Pop Necklace

Vintage vinyl beads, wood, copper, enamel, sterling silver 34 inches

Retail value: $350

I started to experiment with dimensional forms while teaching an enamel workshop at Penland a few years ago. The small enamel beads came from this time of play and exploration. I've paired the enamel beads with colorful wood beads and vintage African vinyl beads to bring out their playful nature.

327 Kristina Paabus

In Pursuit

Aquatint, linocut, and screenprint on paper.

20 x 16 inches

Retail value: $850

My work examines the systems we use to control our surroundings as well as the structures that try to control us. This print was made at an artist residency in California, and it is part of a series of work that examines the lived impact of constructed spaces in the region.

328 Sean O'Connell

Untitled

Stoneware, slip, pigment; wood-fired 18 x 11½ x 3½ inches

Retail value: $1,200

This piece is from a new body of sculptural work I've started since beginning the Penland residency. The piece is an exploration of mark-making, that is, spontaneous movement and expression with brush and ink. Or, in this case, how that dynamic movement changes or evolves when executed in materials less immediate than paper and ink.

329 Wyatt Severs

Pedestal Table

Cherry, maple, milk paint, Danish oil 20½ x 19½ x 19½ inches
Retail value: $2,200
$$$ shipping

I designed this piece with an entry way, foyer, or hallway in mind. It is the perfect adornment for a place where you need a little extra table space!

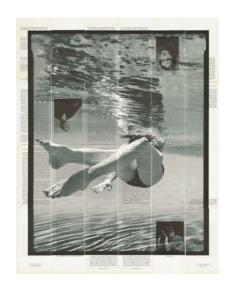

330 Sharon Massey

Vipers (brooches)
Enamel, steel
6½ x 3½ x ½ inches
Retail value: $4,000

These brooches were made with a steel champlevé process I developed. The steel is etched, formed, fabricated, and finally enameled. This process seems especially well suited to the textures, forms, and colors of snakes.

500 Julia Woodman

Computer-Aided Pine Cone

Steel, copper 38 x 17 x 17 inches Retail value: $2,800 $$$ shipping

As the "Old Lady in the Iron Studio," I decided to make one of my small 3D tessellations BIG.
These components were cut with a CAD plasma cutter and then formed with a 50-ton hydraulic press

331 Mercedes Jelinek

Submerged

Inkjet print on recycled book pages 20 x 24 inches Retail value: $2,000

This piece is part of a larger body of work that will be exhibited outside Venice, Italy in October 2023.

332 Julia Turner

Ainsley Earrings

Walnut, ink, oxidized sterling silver 2¾ x 1½ x ½ inches each Retail value: $240

These earrings are a snapshot of my midwestern childhood, a memory of laying on my back in our meadow, hidden by the grass and the flowers and the weeds, just being quiet. The name Ainsley comes from Gaelic words loosely meaning "solitary" and "meadow" and it felt like a perfect fit for these.

333 Erin Keane

Infinite Promise Photograph, encaustic beeswax 91/2 x 91/2 x 2 inches

Retail value: $275

This is a field sketch made in an open meadow, captured with intentional camera movement, and made golden with encaustic beeswax.

335 Adam Atkinson

Doppelganger Mild steel, spring steel 3 x 2½ x 1 inches Retail value: $850

A brooch, an apparition, a liminal guardian clinging to your garments. Made from mild steel using chasing and repoussé to create the form, consider this a protective talisman eternally connected to another spiritual body. This is one-half of a pair of brooches.

334 Beth Dow

Town Tote

Vegetable-tanned leather, waxed-linen thread, copper rivets, brass feet 141/2 x 51/2 x 11 inches excluding handles Retail value: $500

This bag was made entirely by hand using a traditional two-needle saddle stitch. The leather will gradually develop a rich honey color through use and exposure to sunlight. It has an interior snap pocket, and it comes with leather balm and a cotton dust bag.

336 Catharine Ellis

Shawl

Cotton, silk 29 x 88 inches Retail value: $500

This shawl is woven on my loom, using a specific Taiten shibori process that was developed in Japan in the early part of the twentieth century. The weaving creates the resist and the piece is dyed in my indigo vat and combined with a mineral brown color. It is made to be worn and enjoyed.

337 Ché Rhodes

Untitled from the FLFX series Blown glass, cast glass 4 x 4 x 7 inches Retail value: $1,500

Reticello blown glass goblet with stem cast from a 3D scan and print.

338 James Viste

And the...

Pattern-welded steel, shibuichi, resin, gold leaf 12 x 3/4 x 2 inches

Retail value: $1,100

This blade is made with pattern-welded steel in my revolver style, which is inspired by glass murrine work.

339 Kathryn Polk

The Ongoing Chip on Her Shoulder Stone and plate lithography, Arches cream cover paper 20 x 15 inches Retail value: $800

341 Annie Evelyn Sack Back Chair Walnut, silk velvet 19 x 24 x 34 inches Retail value: $2,400 $$$ shipping

This piece is from the Static Adornment series and draws inspiration from eighteenth-century sack-back gowns. The layers of bent laminations and curves allude to the garment and give the sitter a unique silhouette.

340 Anna Johnson

Domina Sim

Baroque pearls, freshwater pearls, bullae bone, black diamonds, silver, satin, marigolds 18 x 1½ x ½ inches Retail value: $1.100

I created this piece in honor of this year's Outstanding Artist Educator, Elizabeth Brim. To anyone who knows Elizabeth, the choices made in this design are clear. Anything can be ladylike when there's a pearl necklace involved.

342 Hoss Haley

Seafoam Tessellation
Automotive paint on steel
16 x 6 x 22 inches
Retail value: $5,800
$$$ shipping

This series is based on two simple tiles: one a spherical curve, the other a torus. By arranging these concave and convex shapes in an alternating pattern, a seamless undulating field emerges. If a spherical tile follows another spherical tile, however, the flow will change direction. It is this shift from an orderly progression toward a less predictable path that I find most compelling.

344 Ellie Richards

Spiked Lamp

Charred cypress, brass hardware 21 x 8 x 8 inches Retail value: $475

After sculpting a cypress beam into four shapes on the bandsaw, I used a Japanese wood-charring technique, called Shou Sugi Ban, to protect and enhance the wood-grain's surface. This lamp is the last available of the edition of four.

343 Jim Moran

Tyger, Tyger

Letterpress on acid-free Neenah cover stock, 26 x 40 inches

Retail value: $400

This limited-edition, four-color poster was letterpress printed from hand-carved wood blocks cut, circa 1950, at Enquirer Printing in Cincinnati. They were first used as an advertisement for the Carson-Barnes Circus. Of specific interest is the cross hatch style of carving to produce shadow, highlights, and varied tonal colors. The text is from William Blake.

345 Andrèa Keys Connell

Lamb-de-labra Clay, underglaze 14 x 12 x 10 inches Retail value: $600

This candelabra is dedicated to the students from my 2021 Penland ceramics workshop.
They named a lamb candelabra I donated to the scholarship auction the "Lamb-de-labra."
Now, whenever I make one, I think of them and smile.

346 Phillip Baldwin

Three-Color Civitas Cuff Argentium sterling/copper/ 15% shibuichi mokume-gane 2½ x 2 inches Retail value not specified

This bracelet was made for the Penland auction and is one of a series. All the Penland bracelets have different patterns of mokume-gane.

347 Shane Fero

Tribute to Carli and Carl Cardinale
Flamedrawn hot glass, flameworked glass; sandblasted and acid-etched
21 x 5½ x 5 inches
Retail value: $5,000
$$$ shipping

This piece is about Carli, a cardinal, and her mate, Carl. She has been coming to our windows for three years, several times daily, to peck and make her presence known. She knows our voices, and it seems like she wants to come in the house.

348 Daniel Garver

Black Pillar
Slipcast black porcelain
4 x 4½ x 21 inches
Retail value: $900
$$$ shipping

Black Pillar is a ceramic piece that was slip cast in black porcelain. The mold was hand cut from plaster blocks; this process creates the saw marks on the surface of the piece. The title and the method by which it was created reference its solid and substantial presence in color and form.

349 Julia Harrison

Craft Deco Basket
Aluminum

14 x 9 x 9 inches Retail value: $650

This basket reflects some of the influences and experiments that have characterized my time at Penland. Reproducing a common form with an atypical material requires me to take a fresh and enthusiastic look at our regional traditions.
